Supply chain

TGAT uses a number of suppliers to support its operations and activities. These suppliers mostly supply services to us relating to Facilities Management, Catering, IT, Agency workers, HR and Payroll, recruitment, consultants, training providers, travel and professional services. We also procure a limited amount of goods in the form of curriculum resources, office supplies, furniture, IT and other materials used in our day-to-day operations.

The great majority of these goods and services we purchase are from within the UK, where employment legislation is both comprehensive and enforced.

Risk management

The Executive and the Finance and Personnel Committee are responsible for identifying and assessing potential risk factors in relation to the Modern Slavery legislation. The Trust has a comprehensive recruitment process and is confident that the risk of slavery occurring within our schools and affecting our employees is very low. However, TGAT have identified that some procurement takes place within sectors where modern slavery offences could occur, such as within our cleaning and catering supply chains and within the construction industry. All large contracts have ensured compliance with the legislation however, in order to mitigate such risks, the Trust has developed the following objectives;

- Raise awareness amongst teams involved in employment, procurement, and management, of the risks of modern slavery occurring within our supply chains.
- Ensure our 'New Supplier' form requests all suppliers adhere to the Modern Slavery Act.
- All tenders for supply of services and or goods include a requirement for the supplier to report on their ethical trading including ensuring they also comply with the Modern Slavery Act 2015.
- Conduct a more in-depth review of our supply chains to better understand the risks of modern slavery occurring within them.
- TGAT's commitment to achieving Value for Money does not compromise the obligations contained in the Act.

Policies

The Trust has developed its own Human Trafficking and Modern Slavery Policy and ensured that new employees are aware of the policy as part of induction. The Trust has a Procurement policy as well as other policies relating to ethical trading. The Trust has comprehensive recruitment procedures which observe equality, diversity and safer recruitment requirements.

The whistleblowing policy has been amended to draw attention to the risk of modern slavery and to stress that a report of concern in relation to those matters can be made under the protection of the whistleblowing policy.

We are determined that there shall be no modern slavery or human trafficking within Tudor Grange Academies Trust. Our policies evidence our commitment to act ethically and with integrity throughout our organisation.

Effectiveness in combating slavery and human trafficking
